Three International Airports Near Lake Geneva

Chicago's O'Hare International Airport offers more connections to more cities, more often than any other airport in the world. Voted the "Best Airport in North America" by readers of Business Traveler International for five consecutive years (1998 - 2002), it's no wonder that more than 190,000 travelers make O'Hare their airport of choice every day. The world's commercial aviation capital for over 30 years, O'Hare International Airport is the hub of all U.S. air transportation and the top economic engine of the Midwest. Despite its long and well-known history of growth, the size and scope of this mammoth facility is still often difficult to grasp. Total passengers in 2002 was 66.5 million. The airport complex covers nearly 7,000 acres, with 178 aircraft gates housed in four terminal buildings. O'Hare International Airport has 71 commercial, commuter, and cargo airlines offering frequent service. Chicago's airports generate 450,000 jobs, and $38 billion in economic impact.

The Chicago Airport System is comprised of two major airports - Chicago O'Hare International Airport and its smaller cousin, Midway Airport. In 2002, 16.9 million passengers passed through the doors of Midway. Airlines International Magazine named Midway Airport one of the "Fastest Growing Airports." The Midway Airport Terminal Development Program is currently underway to enhance the travel experience for the millions of travelers who pass through Midway Airport each year.

General Mitchell International Airport in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, is a medium-hub airport owned and operated by Milwaukee County. Mitchell's 14 airlines offer roughly 230 daily departures and arrivals. Approximately 90 cities are served nonstop or direct from Mitchell International. It is the largest airport in Wisconsin. The airport is named after U. S. Army General Billy Mitchell, whose claims of air superiority over the sea led to a confrontation with the U.S.

Navy. In July, 1921, in a test bombing of German warships, Mitchell proved his point when his men sank a battleship. Development of air power in the U.S. was ensured through Mitchell's demonstration.

Transportation from these airports to Lake Geneva is best accomplished by renting an automobile. Although some private shuttles make trips to Lake Geneva, they are expensive and must be booked in advance.

Hawk's View Golf Club Como Crossings Course

The new Hawk's View Golf Club, located on a beautiful 312 acre site just minutes from downtown Lake Geneva and the Grand Geneva, features Como Crossings, an 18-hole, par 72, 7,048 yard championship caliber course and Barn Hollow, a unique 18 hole 2,708 yard short-game challenge course. RIBA-AIA will play the Como Crossings course. The courses, designed by Craig Schreiner, recognized by Golf World as one of the nation's premier golf course architects, blend nuances of traditional golf architecture with dramatic elevation changes, mature trees, open meadows, lakes and wetlands. The result is an ideal balance of playability and memorability unique to southeastern Wisconsin.

Hawk's View has been meticulously designed and crafted to preserve the site's ecosystem. The 36 acres of fairways consist of a three-way bentgrass blend that provides excellent lies, playability and is environmentally friendly, reducing the need for fertilizer and pesticide applications. Beautiful granite bolder retaining walls are featured in the course landscaping and signage. These were all excavated from the original site, a former winter ski lodge and slope. Other unique course features that enhance your golf experience include two covered bridges built from lumber cleared on the property and a picturesque, natural 15-foot cascading waterfall.

Grand Belle of Geneva

The Grand Belle of Geneva is designed after turn-of-the-century steamers, including brass furnishings and pine decks. She offers generous space with a cozy atmosphere for guests to enjoy. The Grand Belle is enclosed and climate controlled on the main deck as well as a portion of the upper deck. Her bow and stern are open to the fresh air of Geneva Lake and allow passengers to enjoy the beauty of the water.

TALIESIN

In 1911, Frank Lloyd Wright would purchase about 32 acres surrounding a major hill in the valley of his maternal grandparents. The valley had been settled in the 1860s by Richard and Mary "Mallie" Lloyd Jones and seven of their 10 adult children. Over the following two decades Wright would successfully purchase all of the land once owned by his aunts and uncles. While originally the architect named just his house Taliesin, eventually that name would be used to describe the entire 600 acre estate on which the house resides. Located on this land were buildings which he had previously directly or indirectly designed for members of his family. In 1911, Wright began the design and construction of his home, Taliesin, in the Lloyd-Jones Valley. Already a progenitor of the Prairie style of architecture and designer of over 100 buildings, Wright left

Frank Lloyd Wright

a well-established Chicago practice. The name Wright gave to this home, Taliesin, is a Welsh word, translating as shining or radiant brow. Wright described the building as wrapping around the brow of the hill. However, to Wright, the name Taliesin signified much more than the placement of the house. It embodied his personal hopes as well as his identity as an artist in a state of continual change and development. The Welsh believed Taliesin embodied the arts, nature, metamorphosis, and the divine. Wright's intention upon moving to Spring Green was to build a home, studio, and farm for himself and his mistress, Mamah Borthwick, and to seek the tranquility and beauty of the Wisconsin landscape. He included in the original design three main wings: the Residential Wing, with living spaces for himself and Ms. Borthwick; the Office and Drafting Studio Wing for drafting and business, and the Farm Wing, which included spaces for cows, chickens, pigs, horses, farmhands, and storage.

These wings are oriented 45° east of the cardinal compass directions, with, significantly, the Residential Wing facing the land settled by Wright's maternal side of the family. The RIBA-AIA tour will include his studio inside the main house at Taliesin. It is important to wear comfortable walking shoes as there will be a short, albeit, steep climb to his home.

The Highlands at Grand Geneva

The Highlands at Grand Geneva is a Scottish-style course. It is a Jack Nicklaus and Pete Dye masterpiece that interweaves nature and sport in spectacular fashion. Redesigned by Bob Cupp to present strategic layout and variety, this par 71 course reaches 6,633 yards through hills and valleys as beautiful as they are challenging. The Highlands is well suited for the family, or the occasional novice player, with four sets of tees to choose from. Now beauty, playability, and fun are available in one place! Remember to bring a camera when you play The Highlands ... words cannot describe the beauty!

Milwaukee Art Museum

May 4, 2001, marked the initial unveiling of the Milwaukee Art Museum's new expansion and renovation which combines art, dramatic architecture and landscape design.

The new Quadracci Pavilion, the first Santiago Calatrava-designed building in the United States, features a 90-foot high glass-walled reception hall enclosed by the Burke Brise Soleil, a sunscreen that can be raised or lowered creating a unique moving sculpture.

Windhover Hall and the Burke Brise Soleil

The 72 brise soleil fins, if laid end-to-end, would stretch 4,540 feet, 3½ inches; that's roughly 7/8 mile. Individual fins range in length from 26 to 105 feet. Due to the massive amounts of steel reinforcing required in the concrete for the pavilion, a 3/8-inch stone aggregate was needed for the concrete instead of the standard ¾-inch aggregate. A ¾-inch stone wouldn't fit between the tightly-packed steel reinforcing bars.

An average-sized, two-story family home would fit comfortably inside the reception hall. The steel spire which caps the brise spines is almost 32" x 9 ½ feet long. The combined total height of the mast/spine, plus the height of the pavilion, equals 12 stories on a conventional building.

Geneva National Player & Trevino

The newest course at Geneva National is a Gary Player signature course, which is why you'll see Gary Player's Black Knight logo used prominently here. This very popular course has been ranked among the top 10 courses in the state by Golf Digest magazine. Picturesque Lake Como is the background for many holes on this beautiful course. You'll also find yourself playing many holes on rolling, wooded land. Player also preserved many acres of natural wetlands as part of his design.

There are five par-5s on the course, so this course rewards the big hitter. Player strives to design holes that are well-defined by fairway bunkers that give the golfer a sense of direction. Tips from the Pro for playing this course: Tee it high and let it fly. Five par-5s will help you score, but play the par-4s smart. Player offers some risk and reward opportunities. The placement of bunkers invites the golfer to take chances by flying the bunkers so that you have a shorter shot in to the green. Play smart and you will walk away with a good score.

PGA player Lee Trevino designed this 18 hole course at Geneva National with the idea of offering golfers a challenge and a test, but still making it fair and enjoyable. "This is the kind of golf course that I like to play," Trevino said after the course was built. "And it's also the kind of course that a high handicapper would like to play, too." Clearly, the Trevino Course was designed for all levels of players. It's also typical of Trevino in that it has wide fairways that meander from left to right. In laying out the course, Trevino made excellent use of this site filled with streams, ravines and hardwood forests. Majestic old oak, hickory and walnut trees run along many of the fairways.

There are great views of the beautiful hillsides and local community surrounding Lake Como. Tips from the Pro on playing this course: What you see is what you get, so relax and trust your swing because the fairways are bigger than they look. Be patient during your round, because your misses won't be penalized. The front nine offers golfers tree-lined fairways with elevation changes including the great first hole -- a picturesque and well-wooded par-4 that measures 477 yards from the back tees and 305 from the forward.

Accuracy is more important than distance as you tee off.

Golfing Architects, Welcome to Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, USA !!!

for the bi-annual meeting of the
RIBA—AIA
International Golfing Society
August 29—September 4, 2005
At the Geneva Grand Resort

This information is provided for your use as you plan your trip to visit Lake Geneva this summer.

The weather in Wisconsin is wonderful.

Summer dress in Lake Geneva means casual, but classy clothes, including shorts, lightweight cottons, and sandals. You should be prepared for cool temperatures, especially in the morning and evening. You will want to bring or purchase a sweater or jacket or both. The summer this year has been cooler than average and the dates of our competition should bring similar weather, although it is always difficult to predict.

Grand Geneva Resort was originally built by Hugh Hefner and the Playboy Corporation as one of four Playboy Resorts in the world. While the resort is rich in history, with many famous entertainers and celebrities having either stayed there or appeared in its lounge, today's resort is more family oriented and features golf, exercise, and a water park in a more sophisticated setting. If you want to leave the resort for any reason other than our planned group outings, you must have transportation. It is beyond walking distance from shopping and dining opportunities.

RIBA—AIA International Golfing Society

Frequently asked Questions

Now that I've shared my knowledge about Lake Geneva and southern Wisconsin, I thought that I might answer the five most asked questions about visiting Lake Geneva in the summer...

1. Are there any bunnies still working at the old Playboy Club, now the Geneva Grand?

Well, frankly, the answer to this question cannot be found in any material written about the resort. After bribing several locals and begging others, I was able to ascertain that yes, indeed, at least one former bunny is employed at the current resort. Unfortunately, as I was told, she has aged a bit from her early days as a bunny and no longer appears in costume. She prefers to remain anonymous.

2. How much does it cost to get from the airport to the hotel?

There are three airports that one can fly to and reach Lake Geneva. The important thing to remember is that no dedicated shuttles run to Lake Geneva and renting a car is the best way to get there. The highway exits coming from Chicago or Milwaukee are prominently identified, so you won't miss it. It's somewhere between 60-90 miles away, depending upon the airport at which you arrive. Rental cars range in price, depending upon your tastes.

3. How is the weather?

The weather at Lake Geneva should be just wonderful with cool evenings and warm, or sometimes, hot days. This summer, the weather has been a bit cooler than usual. But all in all, it should be very pleasant to play golf at Lake Geneva this year. August temperatures average (high to low) 83° (28 C) to 62° (17 C) in August and 75° (24 C) to 54° (12 C) in September. The weather forecast for our arrival day is for rain showers, but let's hope the next week is sunny.

4. How close are we to Taliesin, home of Frank Lloyd Wright?

Taliesin is located in Spring Green Wisconsin, about a 2 1/2 hour drive from Lake Geneva. We are planning to tour his home on Wednesday during our meeting and some 50 individuals have signed up for the tour. We will take reservations up to and including departure, as long as we can provide transportation. Our bus holds 55 individuals, but others may drive their own vehicles, so we should be able to accommodate as many as would want to go. I have visited Taliesin twice and it is truly an architectural wonder. Although it is in need of some maintenance and repair work, it still stands as a jewel in architecture.

5. Does Lake Geneva have a monster?

No, someone must be confusing this with Loch Ness, and our wonderful visit there in 2002. Lake Geneva was the playground of the rich families from Chicago and Milwaukee at the turn of the century and into the 1930's and 40's. The Wrigley family from Chicago (chewing gum), still own a large family estate, which will be a feature of our tour around the Lake on Tuesday. Other well know families also built major "summer cottage" mansions on the lake and many are still standing. But alas, not one monster!

I hope this little booklet, which contains your ITINERARY and information about Lake Geneva and its attractions, is helpful. In any case, you are all welcome to join us this summer in Lake Geneva, where It's always been the place!
